accidentally. 2) For example: "Human" is in "Socrates" as a whole — Socrates is fully human.

. This is not about physical containment. It's conceptual or formal containment — the way species and genus relate.

"Predicated of every one of another": Logical or linguistic phrasing. The predicate term applies to every instance of the subject.

• Aristotle is linking ontology and logic.

• Since predication is just a logical act, we can construct arbitrary propositions using predication, even if they are false, nonsensical or about non-existent things.
(Ex: All unicorns are purple, All triangles are dogs)
It doesn't by itself check the truth.

Note: Full understanding will only be possible after going through Aristotle's metaphysics
